

What is feedback?

Feedback is when a person would like to:

- say what they liked about a service or worker
- give ideas on ways to improve a service.

Some examples include;

- you liked the way you were treated by your support coordinator;
- you have achieved something with our help
- you have a suggestion for how we could make things better.

What is a complaint?

A complaint is when a person has an issue with the way a service is provided and would like something to be changed.

Some examples include:

- we turn up late to meetings
- you do not like the way we treat you
- we haven't provided enough services
- we talk to someone about you, but you did not say we could.

You have the right to give feedback or make a complaint at any time without negative consequences. All complaints will be resolved in a fair and timely manner.

How to make a complaint

You can:

1. Talk with your support coordinator about your feedback or complaint. You can have a support person or interpreter with you. If you are making a complaint, they may ask you some questions to make sure they have all of the information.
2. If you do not feel comfortable talking with your support coordinator and you would like to talk with someone else, you can contact Innovates Director/s or an independent provider.
3. You can provide feedback or make a complaint anonymously by completing the Feedback and Complaints Comments Page (on the next page).
4. If you are not happy with the result of your complaint, you may also contact the NDIS Quality and Safeguarding Commission.

Who to call if your complaint is not resolved?
